AT WHITE HOUSE Attributed to "Large Amount of Entertaining" Done by the President.

INCREASED EXPENSES

Results Seem Inadequate to Money Expended-Bingham's Transfer a Factor in Acrid Debate in the House.

Washington, Feb. 12.-When the item appropriating $60,000 for the care, repair and efurnishing of the executive mansion, to be expended as the President might de-termine, was reached in the House to-day. Mr. Gaines of Tennessee asked why this appropriation had been increased from $12,500 to $25,000. Mr. Cannon replied by calling attention to the enlargement of the White House and the construction of the new ex-ecutive offices. These changes, he said, in reased the expenses.

Mr. Gaines read from the report of Colonel Bingham's extracts ascribing the increase of the expenses at the White House to the "large amount of entertaining" done by the White House.

CANNON'S REPLY.

Mr. Cannon, in reply, said he was glad the old White House had been overhanied, but he confessed that the new executive offices had disappointed him. "I think," said he, "we were entitled to a better building for the money."

Mr. Cannon recalled the fact that during Jackson's administration the landscape gardening of the White House grounds was a political issue. He mentioned this, he said, to show how the American people sometimes "ran amuck."

Mr. Pitzgerald, New York, referred to a newspaper report that Colonel Eingham's transfer had been due to his holding upcertain vouchers in connection with the White House improvements and his opposition of the character of these improvements. He also criticised the language of the appropriation, "for the care, repair and refurnishing," which he did not think actually described the purposes for which the appropriation was made.

"Will not the gentlemen state that Colonel Bingham states that he was transferred at his own request?" asked Mr. Graham of Pennsylvania.

"Oh," repiled Mr. Fitzgerald, "it is the common thing for officers whose future is in the service to make statements exonerating their superiors. But in my opinion it reflects upon the President of the United States to have it intimated that an officer is being coerced into approving expenditures his judgment does not sanction."

COCHRAN TALKS.

Mr. Cochran (Missouri) thought the sub-CANNON'S REPLY,

COCHRAN TALKS.

Mr. Cochran (Missour) thought the subject raised by the pending item was well worthy of serious consideration. He inveighed against the growing extravagance in official circles, the constant demand for increased salaries and allowances. He described official functions as an attempt to imitate court circles abroad. He said that fifty years ago the White House receptions were very different and far simpler than they are to-day.

It was a fact, he said, that poor men to-day could not accept positions in the Cabinet or on the bench because of the social expenses entailed, and he thought that an argument for a return to the simpler methods of older days.

Mr. Cannon replying to Mr. Fitzgerald, ods of older days.

Mr. Cannon, replying to Mr. Fitzgerald, said that so far as he knew there was no conflict between Colonel Bingham and the Secretary of War over the approval of vouchers. As to the language of the item under discussion, he thought it proper. There was nothing, he said, to prevent the President, at his own expense, entertaining as he chose.

Mr. Sims (Tennessee), in criticising the work of the ing as he chose.

Mr. Sims (Tennessee), in criticising the work of the architect who made the White House improvements, denounced the executive office a "hencoop," which would invite the attack of anarchists.

An amendment offered by Mr. Gaines to reduce the appropriation from $60,000 to $46,-900 was voted down without division.
